STOCKHOLDERS OF INSURANCE COMPANY MEET HERE.

About forty stockholders of the Farmers' Life Insurance Company were present at a meeting held Tuesday in the basement of the B. & L. building. The object of the meeting was to discuss the affairs of the company and to plan for future work. Among those who addressed the meeting were Ex-Gov. Ammons, of Colorado, C. H. Tulley, of Alliance, John Orr, of Lewellen, B. M. Stackhouse, of the experimental sub-station, Walter Johnson, superintendent of agents, and B. S. Sims, of Denver. Stockholders from Brady, Maxwell, Hershey and Sutherland and points outside the county were present.

The stockholders in western Nebraska have organized a sub-association, of which F. H. Barber and B. M. Stackhouse, both of this county, is president and secretary respectively.

To My Customers.

The burning of my barn places me in a condition where I badly need all money due me, and I trust that those indebted to me will fully realize my unfortunate position and promptly pay the amount due. In the past I have favored you by giving you credit; will you not now favor me by paying me promptly the money you owe me.

JULIUS MOGENSEN.

Hallowell Concert Pleases.

The concert given by the Hallowell Company, under the auspices of the B. P. O. Elks, at the Keith Tuesday evening attracted a large audience, and that the attendants were pleased was evidenced by the enthusiastic manner in which every number was received. The orchestral selections were applauded, and each of the solo numbers encored. As a musical organization the Hallowell Company is one of the best that appears in North Platte, and their return next year will be awaited with pleasure.

Following the concert the company played for a dance at the Elks' home. The concert netted the Elks about fifty dollars.

In the district court Wednesday Myrtle B. Smith was granted a divorce from her husband U. J. Smith on the grounds of extreme cruelty. They were married December 9th, 1907, in Gandy and have resided in this city for several years. The plaintiff was given the custody of the three children, Harry Lester aged seven, Grace Gladys five, and Hazel Myrtle two. The defendant was taxed costs in the sum of $10.55.

The Hendy-Ogier company received a car of Fords and a car of Dodges this week. All the Fords have been sold and part of the Dodges. This company received six cars of Fords this fall, just about half enough to fill the sales that had been made. They, however, fared as well as dealers throughout the country—none receiving more than about half enough to fill their orders.

The highest temperature last month was eighty-three and the lowest thirteen, the mean for the month being forty-one. The precipitation was twenty-two one-hundredths of an inch, which is a little below the average for the month. In November, 1914, there was but a trace of precipitation.

The Misses Mary Nelson, Frances and Virginia Neville entertained a number of their young friends Tuesday afternoon. The little folks were entertained with games and served with a nice lunch.

Tagore's Fame in India.

As showing something of Rabindranath Tagore's fame in his native India, Ernest Rhys tells the following story in his biography of Tagore:

"Mr. Montague, the undersecretary of state for India, was on one occasion riding through an Indian forest at night when he came upon a clearing where two or three men sat around the fire. Not being certain of the road," says Mr. Rhys, "he was glad to dismount and rest his tired horse. Shortly after he had joined the group a poor looking, ill clothed lad came out of the forest and sat down also at the fire. First one of the men sang a song and then another. The boy's turn came, and he sang a song more beautiful both in words and music than the rest. When asked who had made the song he said that he did not know, 'they were singing these songs everywhere.' A while after Mr. Montague heard the words that he had used again, this time in a very different place, and when he asked for the name of the maker of the song he heard for the first time the name of Rabindranath Tagore."

Care of the Mouth.

The use of a tooth wash does not approach the conditions of a laboratory test, though there can be little doubt that a good deal of germicidal work in the mouth is done by the vigorous application of the toothbrush, and it may be pointed out that the tongue may well be included in the process. To be effective, however, the action of all antiseptics takes time, according to the vitality of the organisms they encounter, and usually the tooth brushing process does not occupy many seconds. This question of time exposure is important, but it is very generally overlooked and consequently the antiseptic treatment of the teeth falls short of that effectiveness which is shown to be the case in laboratory experiments. The tooth washing process should be more prolonged and the antiseptic wash allowed to remain in contact with the teeth and gums for some minutes instead of seconds before finally washing the mouth clear of antiseptic with plain water.—London Lancet.

His Yallerweed.

Many persons are under the impression that America has few, if any, native plants worthy of cultivation in the home garden. They have been accustomed to look upon them as weeds and wild things, and so unfamiliar are they with native flowers that they fail to recognize them when they meet them outside their native haunts. A writer tells how he transplanted a stalk of goldenrod from a fence corner in the pasture to a place in his garden. It flourished luxuriantly and sent up many stalks as high as a man's head, each crowned with a great plume of brilliant flowers. A neighbor was attracted by the beauty of the plant and declared it must have cost its owner some dollars. When told, however, that numbers of the same plant were flourishing behind his barn he exclaimed: "What! You mean to tell me it's yallerweed!" And he went away with the air of one who had been imposed upon.—Country Gentleman.

Thievery in Chile.

The Chilean masses have a bad name for larceny. In Chilean ports ship passengers are warned to lock their cabin doors, and loaded lighters have to be guarded at night. Chilean stokers will saw through the bulkhead into the vessel's hold, steal goods and hide them in the coal bunkers till the night after they arrive in port, when they find opportunity to lower them overboard to a confederate in a boat under cover of darkness. Harbor thieves will even cut a hole in the bow of a vessel and make off with boatloads of freight. The Germans of southern Chile have the worst opinion of Chilean honesty, and in Santiago I was bidden notice the high walls and grated windows of the houses of the better class.—Professor Edward Alsworth Ross in "South of Panama."

Byron's Famous Swim.

Byron was cruising up the Dardanelles in a British warship, the Salsette, when he accomplished his famous swim from Abydos to Sestos, the distance (a little over four miles) being covered in seventy minutes. "You will smile at this exploit," the poet wrote to R. C. Dallas in a letter describing the swim, "but as it made an ancient immortal I see no reason why a modern may not be permitted to boast of it, particularly as I had no mistress to comfort me at landing."

According to Hobhouse, his traveling companion, Byron "had previously made a more perilous but less celebrated passage, for I recollect that when we were in Portugal he swam from Old Lisbon to Belem castle and, having to contend with a tide and counter-current, the wind blowing freshly, was but little less than two hours in crossing the river."—Pall Mall Gazette.

The Policy in the Pocket

Is worth a dozen in prospect. Do not delay to get your Fire Insurance Policy made out and in your possession. You never know when or where a fire is going to break out. Be prepared for it at all times even if it never happens. The cost of maintaining a good policy is very small if you will let me write it. But your protection will be perfect then.
